HEADACHE POWDERS

NOTE 7

In Bulletin No 360, page 7, I have referred to the fact that a number of articles which are essentially nothing more than Baking Powders are offered for sale under names which involve the use of the word "Egg".

These articles so far as they have come under my notice contain a yellow dye, evidently intended to suggest the presence of egg-yolk. Some of these articles contain small amounts of protein matter in the form of casein, gelatin or powdered dessicated egg, but in no case is the amount of such material so great as to justify their being offered as Egg substitutes or Egg Powders.

The phrase Egg Powder will be interpreted by this Department as equivalent to powdered egg, and if other material than powdered egg is present it will be required that the label shall state this

The term Egg Substitute is legitimate provided that both as to physical character and food value the article is equivalent to egg material.

The use of a yellow dye in any article claiming to be Powdered Egg or Egg Substitute or so named as to imply that the article is an egg powder or an egg substitute, will, unless the article actually meets the requirements for Egg Powder or Egg Substitutes, be held to be adulterated under Section 3 (h) of the Act.

HEADACHE POWDERS

Ottawa, July 6th, 1917.

J. U. VINCENT, Esq., K. C., B. A. L. Ph.
Deputy Minister of Inland Revenue,

Sir,

I beg to hand you a report dealing with the examination of 102 samples sold as Headache Powders. These samples were procured by our inspectors in October and November of last year.

They may be classified as follows; on the basis of the active ingredient contained in them :

Acetanilide (antifebrin).....	81 samples
Phenacetin.....	13 "
Both acetanilide and phenacetin.....	2 "
Aspirin (acetosalicylic acid).....	6 "
<hr/>
Total.....	102 "

Acetanilide continues to be the main drug in evidence. This is doubtless due to its relative cheapness, and to the fact that its potency makes it effective in smaller amount than either phenacetin or aspirin.

The respective doses prescribed by the British Pharmacopeia for these drugs are as below : (Edn. 1914)

Acetanilide.....	2 to 5 grains
Phenacetin.....	5 to 15 "
Phenazone.....	5 to 15 "
Aspirin.....	5 to 15 "

The medical advisers of this Department have fixed the following limits for the drugs named, having reference to interpretation of section 7 (c) of the Proprietary or Patent Medicine Act.

Acetanilide.....	2 grains.
Phenacetin.....	5 "
Phenazone.....	5 "

This has regard to the presence of these drugs, without declaration on the package, one drug only being present in any case.

Where two scheduled drugs are present, each being in amount decidedly below permitted maximum, we interpret the above section of the Act as permitting the second drug in such amount only as may be considered complementary to that in which the first is present. For example, when one grain acetanilide is present, 2.5 grains phenacetin may also be present; but no more.

Aspirin (acetosalicylic acid) is not specifically named in the Patent Medicine Act.

The results of analysis may be thus summarized :

Samples which meet legal requirements without declaration of drug.....	54
" which declare drug present.....	31
" Adjudged as doubtful.....	2
" Adjudged as adulterated.....	15

Total..... 102

One sample classified as doubtful, shows a decided excess of acetanilide in one powder, but another powder is within legal limits. The discrepancy may be due to carelessness in weighing out the material on the part of the manufacturer; and it is open to question whether or not such irregularity should be permitted to escape penalty.

The second sample so classified, declares the presence of Antikamnia which is a mixture of acetanilide with bicarbonate of soda. It is questionable whether or not the use of the term antikamnia may be accepted as tantamount to a statement that acetanilide is the active drug.

Adulteration consists in the presence of more than the permissible amount of the active drug, without declaration of the presence of such drug on the label.

We have made previous inspections of Headache Powders, as below :

Bulletin No. 113— January, 1906.....	30 samples.
Acetanilide found in.....	28 samples.
Bulletin No. 230— Dec. 1911.....	150 samples.
Acetanilide found in.....	118 samples.
Bulletin No. 268— Sept 1913.....	171 samples.
Acetanilide found in.....	139 samples.

I would respectfully advise publication of this report as Bulletin No. 380.

I have the honour to be, Sir.

Your obedient servant,

A. MCGILL,

Chief Analyst.
